Yesterday's Late News

Two Austrian Battleships Sunk.
The torpedoing of two Austrian battleships in the harbor of Trieste by Italian torpedo craft on the night of December 9 is reported in a message received here from Commander C. Pfister of the Italian Navy.

Use Foreign Machine Guns.
Major-General Crozier, chief of Army ordnance, testifying today before the Senate committee, declared the responsibility for delay in getting machine guns lay personally with Secretary Baker who took charge of tests between the different types. Because of machine gun shortage, General Crozier said, foreign guns were furnished to the American troops abroad and to troops in training at home.

Battle in Southern Russia.
A battle has occurred near Bulgard in Southern Russia between Bolshevik forces and troops under the command of General Korniloff, but the outcome has not been established and Petrograd reports are conflicting. The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Mail reports that General Korniloff was defeated and wounded and that his capture was to be expected. A dispatch from a representative of the Post, however, denies the reported Bolshevik victory, saying that General Korniloff has routed his opponents and will soon join General Kaledines at Nova Tcherkassk.

Submarines Not Defeated, He Says.
"The submarine menace, in my opinion, is held but not yet mastered," said Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty, in the House of Commons today. "Our ship-building is not yet replacing our loss," he added.

More than $14,000 of the county's subscription has been paid. Practically all of this amount has been forwarded to state headquarters.

Neighbor Turn in False Fire Alarm.
The fire department was called to the home of Gentry Clark, 403 College avenue, this morning. The alarm was false. A neighbor, seeing steam coming from a vent pipe on the roof of the house, believed it to be smoke and turned in the alarm.

They will be sent to San Antonio, Tex., to an aviation school.

The Navy has also received received recruits from Columbia. Postmaster J. H. CALL FOR SAVITAR PICTURES

Managing Editor Urges Students to Have Work Done at Once.

The large number of students leaving the University for military service after the Christmas holidays makes it necessary for individual students, clubs and fraternities to have their pictures taken before the holidays begin this year, according to John K. Keirsey, managing editor of the 1918 Savitar.

"We want the book complete," said Mr. Keirsey, "and in order to accomplish this, those leaving here should make arrangements in advance for having their pictures in the year book. Their payments should also be made in full to insure delivery of the book when it is issued next spring."

The contract for the 1918 Savitar was let some time ago and the work of compiling it is well under way.
